The River (Yellow/Black)

About Carlos Marcano

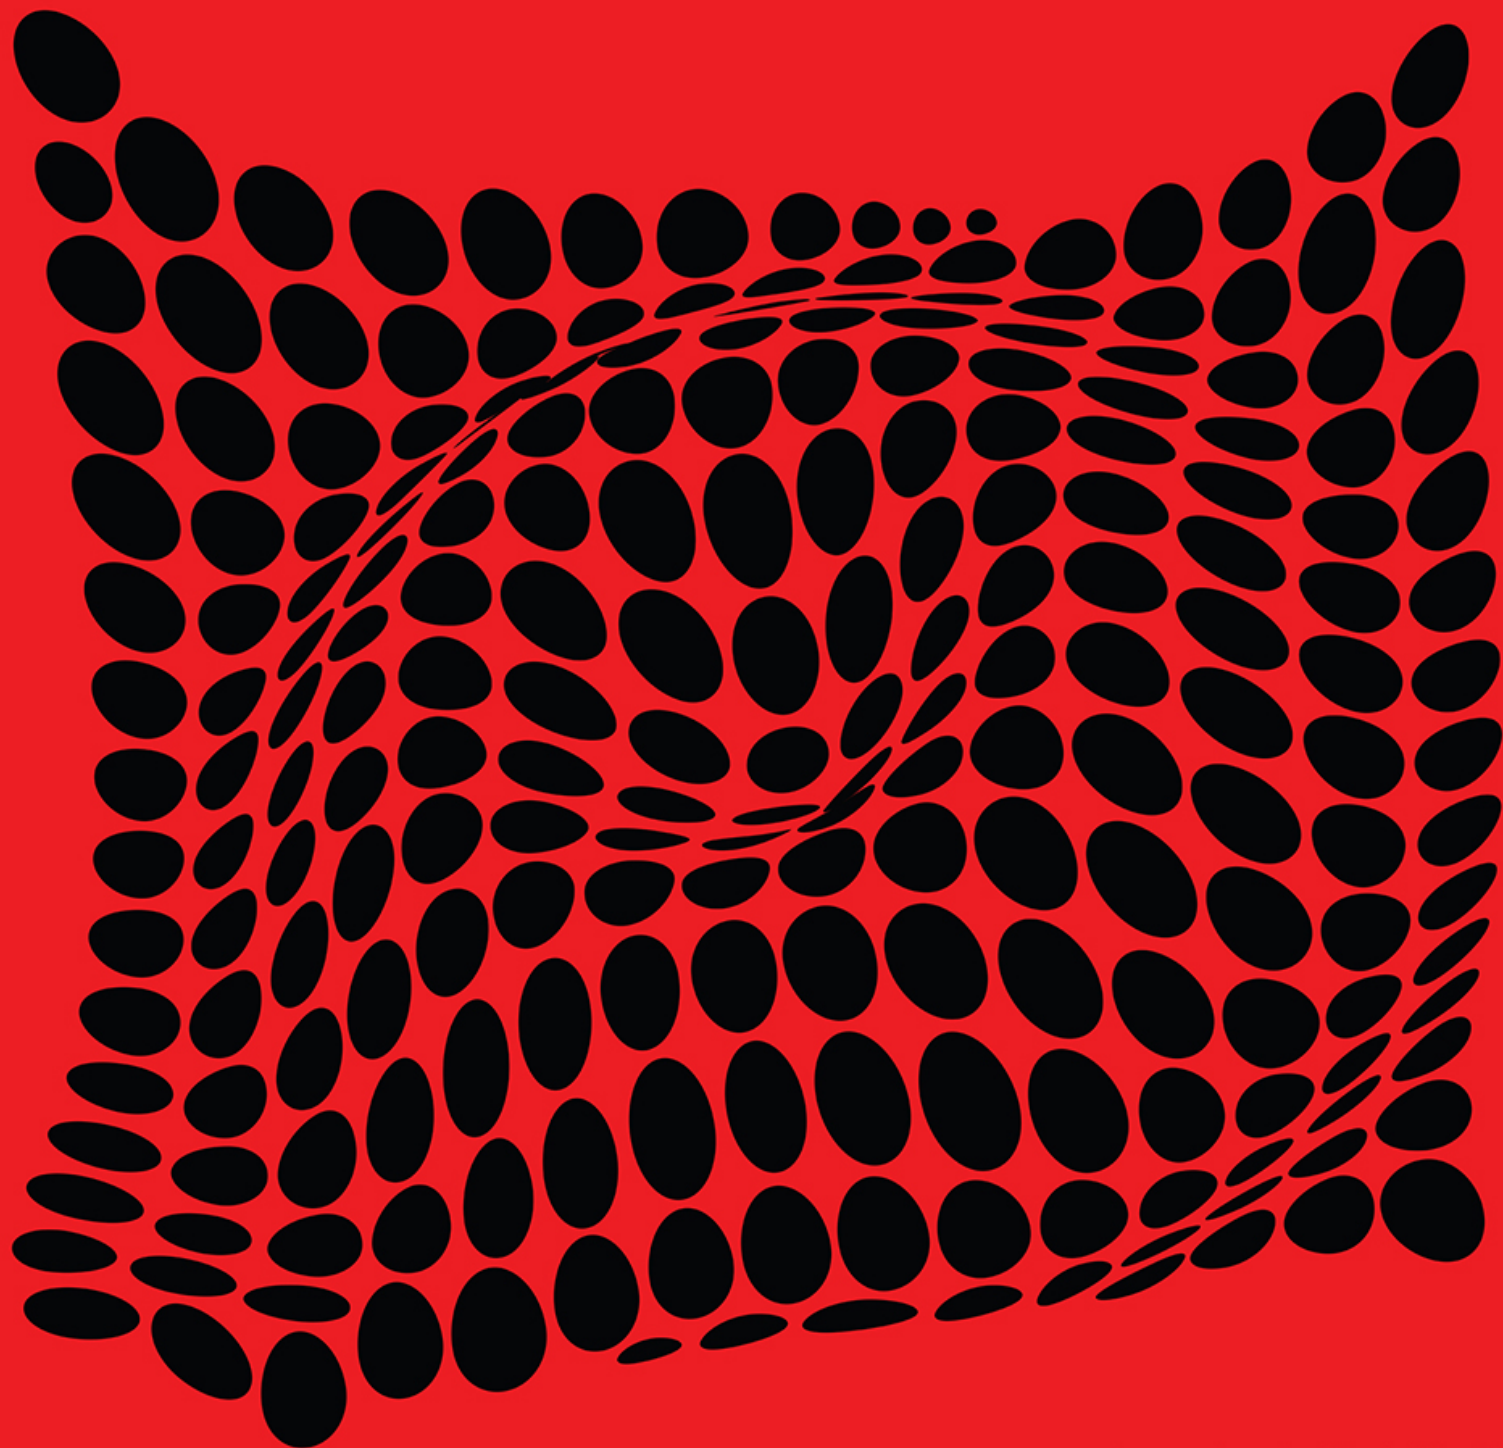

Born in Caracas, Venezuela. From a very young age he always liked painting, specializing in pencil and charcoal drawings.

Although he felt influenced by art, his training was Electronic Engineer and his life has always revolved around Advertising and Creativity.

Towards the end of 2012, he began experimenting with materials such as methacrylate (Acrylic, Plexiglass) and cutting with his laser machine. He liked what it turned out to be and since then he has been experimenting with this technique.

His influences: Soto, Cruz Diez, Vasarely, and in general all the movement of Kinetic Art and Optical Art, of the Paris of the 60's.

Artist's statement

I've always liked to know how everything around me works. Why they are like that, and how they are created.

Geometry is present in Nature, and in its perfection is my fascination.

The Geometric Figures and the Optical Illusions are mixed to put to work our brain.

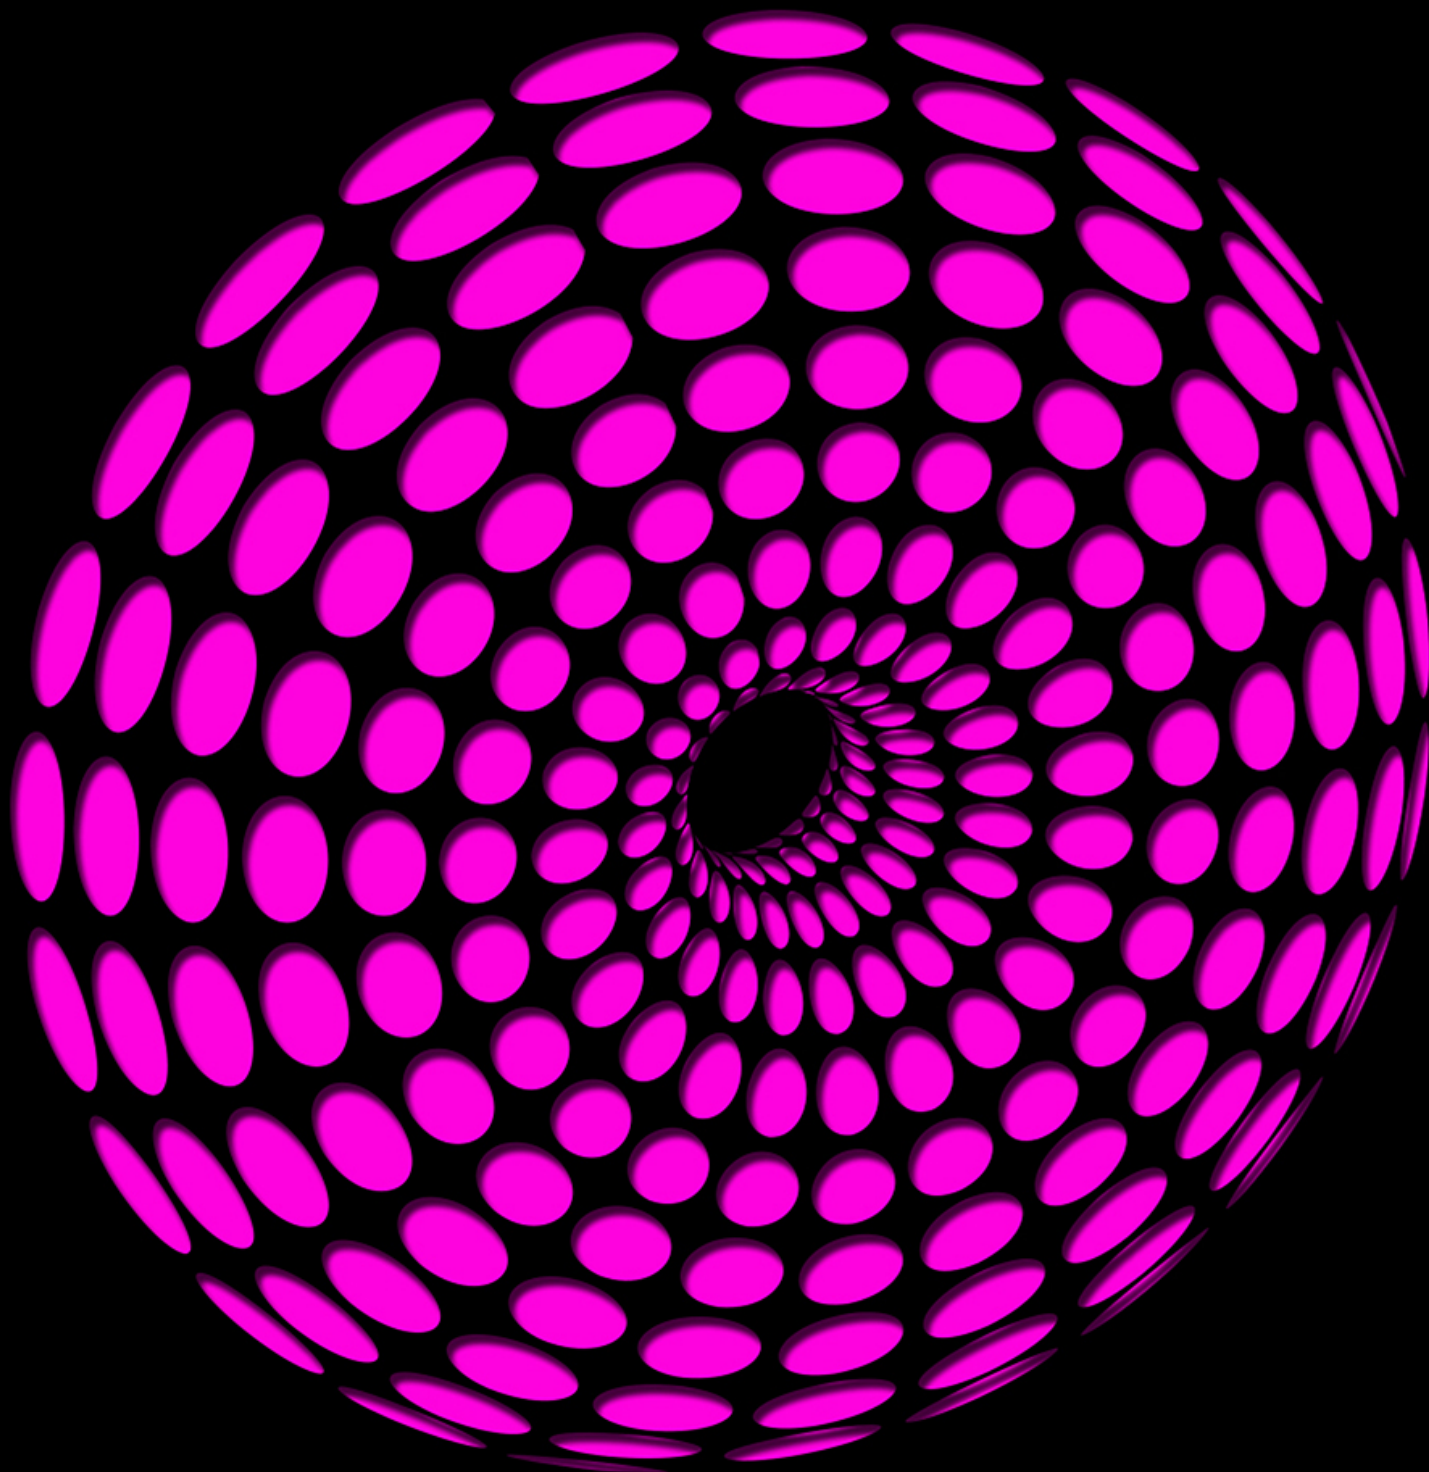

"This is my world, and in which my work is all about."
