

I'm a selftaught artist. I started painting and drawing when I was still at school and kept on learning and practising ever since.

I was very interested in the techniques of the Old Masters and experimented with egg tempera and oils. Later on I turned to acrylics and a combination of acrylics and oil colors.

Many years I spent with printmaking, especially with etchings, but also alternative printmaking with intagliotype.

In the last years I started with scratchboards and recently I began with daily paintings.

For the last 14 years I made my living as a teacher in arts and IT. Now I am retired and have all the time for painting. I live in Germany in a small town in Bavaria.
