

Lerentia Basson obtained her BA (Ed) Arts degree from the University of Pretoria.

She then studied and worked with the distinguished sculptor Charles Gotthard.

In 1990 she left for Europe and learned the craft of cartapesta from a master craftsman in Florence Italy.

On her return to South Africa she relocated to Langebaan, Western Cape where for 4 years she managed and worked from the West Coast Arts Guild gallery, the Agios Nikolaos Gallery.

For the last 15 years Lerentia has been living in Bloubergstrand, creating ceramics and mixed media sculptures.