

PROFILE

It gives me a immense pleasure and flashback on writing my portfolio. It happens like this, in mid-2015 I discovered my passion and interest on art. At first it was hurdle to learn a complete new subject, but somehow managed to build up self believe in hard work, patience and discipline. I did numerous of practice and studies hoping to get better the following day. After a year slowly, my works were being recognized and was invited to participate in an exhibition done by Vinci Touch Academy, Jaigaon 2016 which acted as a catalyst resulting into different dimension of life. Most of all there was a development of self-consciousness or a desire of doing something different. "Pointillism", comparatively new in Bhutan. As of now I am in a verge of finding a new form of Pointillism through which I can represent my country and myself. Within those years I have not only learned about art but also some aspects of life or in simple art has been a journey towards spiritual.
